

POLICY SEMINAR

CLEAN ENERGY FOR ALL EUROPEANS PACKAGE

Achievements, implications for implementation, where do we go from here?

Energy Efficiency and Renewables

15 October 2019, 9.00-11.00, A1G369

The clean energy transition is taking on a new dynamic in Europe and worldwide. "Energy efficiency first" principle and renewables are at the center of this transformation process. This requires strong implementation of existing policies, and new legislative measures to align with the increased ambition as proposed by the European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen.

This interactive seminar brings together stakeholders, NGOs, Commission, MEPs and staff to examine the achievements of the last Mandate, implications for implementation and monitoring and next steps.

The energy transition must create opportunities for sustainable growth and jobs, a Just Transition for workers and communities, increase the competitiveness of European businesses and deliver tangible and sustainable benefits for all citizens and our environment.

The seminar is organised in collaboration between MEPs Theresa Griffin (S&D, UK) and Seán Kelly (EPP, Ireland) and the European Alliance to Save Energy.
